

Successes and Challenges in Building an Assessment Culture Across CUNY (Part 2): Cross-Campus Discussion with Assessment Leaders

This program is the second in a two-part series on the successes and challenges of building an assessment culture, from both case study and cross-campus perspectives. The purpose of this second seminar is to hear from a panel of assessment leaders, including Provosts, Senate Chairs, Deans, and Directors from CUNY colleges, who will discuss what has worked and what has not when it comes to assessment on their campuses.

The speakers will engage in conversations on assessment models, explore changing contexts, and elaborate on what remains to be done by each of them individually and what we should strive to achieve as a University.
